We work hard in solidarity with as many social justice struggles as we can. This has included supporting action against environmental destruction, street fascism, austerity and cuts. All of our work directly confronts attempts to punish and deter protest by the police and prosecutors.

This work takes time, energy and resources. It is driven first and foremost by the time and energy of people involved in the group, but we do have costs: bust cards and legal observer bibs, phone credit and computer hardware, our website and email servers, travel and venue costs for trainings. We cover these with personal donations received through this page. We employ one person part-time to do some of our admin work; we seek grant funding from elsewhere to cover the cost of this.

Giving to us is a gesture of solidarity, supporting a broad movement for radical social change.

Regular donations let us plan our work more effectively.
